

Dear neighbor,
Please don't hesitate to reach out if you need help at any time but let's definitely check-in during a heat wave, an extended power outage, or if the smoke from wildfires gets bad.
Neighbors helping neighbors.

If we can't connect for some reason, I want you to know about an additional resource...

Victory Heights is working to connect neighbors who might need a little extra support – either because they live alone, are an older adult, or struggle with access or functional needs. Maybe that's a quick "check-in" phone call during difficult times or something more hands-on.

If you are interested in connecting with others in the community, or would like more information, please call the Victory Heights Community Council at (804) 557-4273.

- The call will go straight to voicemail and you will hear Ben Cober's voice (VHCC President)
- Leave your name and phone number and Louise (a Victory Heights neighbor and Co-coordinator) will call you back to answer any questions you might have

To hear more in person, the group is gathering Friday, Sep 10th at 1pm on the tennis court, VH Park. Coordinators will explain the program (live, in person!) and answer questions. It's "Food Truck Friday" so grab lunch beforehand, if you'd like. Tables and chairs will be available, socially-distanced, in the tennis court.

Respectfully,

Community Connections
